Winterthur Museum, Garden & Library invites applications for 2018–2019 Research Fellowships

Winterthur Welcomes Researchers!
Unparalleled access to a wealth of objects, manuscripts, and rare books encourages researchers to explore and immerse themselves in holistic and intimate inquiry from a wide range of disciplines.

Fellowships Offered
Residential fellowships at Winterthur provide scholars at all levels with uninterrupted time to research, write, and think about their projects in a rigorous but relaxed setting.

Winterthur was not just time spent at another library conducting research for my dissertation. Winterthur was an experience. The scholars’ housing and grounds provided quiet time for writing, thinking, and resting...

Winterthur staff were always welcoming, friendly, and ready to help me. And, the primary resources were second to none. Being in residence at Winterthur (I was) fully immersed in a rigorous academic setting that motivated and enhanced my work. I will forever be indebted to the people and resources at Winterthur.

Inviting Academic Community
Fellows are a part of a vibrant and inviting academic community that is committed to high-level intellectual engagement through colloquia, conferences, lectures, graduate programs, and an in-house academic journal, Winterthur Portfolio.

Maker-Creator Fellowship
This fellowship was conceived for artists, writers, filmmakers, horticulturalists, craftspeople, and others—who will immerse themselves in the vast Winterthur collections and be inspired to research and create projects that interpret the past and our collections in unique and imaginative ways.
