

THOMAS JAYNE OFFERS TRIBUTE TO HENRY FRANCIS DU PONT IN MOVING NEW VIDEO FOR DELAWARE ANTIQUES SHOW

Winterthur Graduate Now Award-Winning Interior Designer Will Open Show With Must-Have Insights November 6!

WINTERTHUR, DELAWARE—Award-winning interior designer and Winterthur graduate Thomas Jayne will share his remarkable insights on contemporary design and decoration as the keynote speaker and chairman of Winterthur's 52nd Annual Delaware Antiques Show, as he opens the show November 6, 2015, at 10:00 am, at the Chase Center on the Riverfront, Wilmington, Delaware. Following the lecture, Jayne will sign copies of his books American Decoration: A Sense of Place and The Finest Rooms in America: Fifty Influential Interiors from the Eighteenth Century to the Present.

Described by The Wall Street Journal as a "mega decorator" and named to Architectural Digest's 2014 AD 100 Top Designers, Jayne's sought-after interior design talents have roots in Winterthur, which he describes in the following video: <https://vimeo.com/140481482>

"Thomas Jayne is truly one of Winterthur's own, having graduated from the master's program established by Henry Francis du Pont in partnership with the University of Delaware. In its 63 years, the Winterthur Program in American Material Culture has produced many of America's leading curators, academics, and museum directors. To that distinguished list may now be added one of America's top scholar decorators. More than any student before or since, Thomas Jayne absorbed far more than the academic curriculum. During his two years at Winterthur, Thomas seems to have channeled H.F. du Pont and absorbed his approach to color, decoration, and room arrangement. To put it simply, Thomas Jayne was learning everything we were not teaching! If H.F. du Pont were with us today, he would be in the front row for Thomas Jayne's lecture and nodding approvingly," said J. Thomas Savage, Winterthur's Director of Museum Affairs.

After internships at Historic Deerfield, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and The Getty Museum, Jayne honed his design philosophy at two of America's most iconic design firms, Parish-Hadley and Associates, and Kevin McNamara, Inc.

"It is an honor and a privilege to serve as honorary chair and deliver the keynote lecture at the 2015 Delaware Antiques Show, benefiting one of this country's most important cultural institutions. I see myself as a scholar-decorator much as Henry Francis du Pont, the founder of Winterthur, saw the ideal curator as part decorator, part librarian," Jayne said.
